Area Selector is an interactive map showing countries, states or counties Users may click on an area and be redirected to a page related to the area, or continue with a search.. The software offers a free level of use (only low-resolution output), but to get the most out of it, you'll want a license, which is currently available for a modest one-time fee of $35 dollars (the price is expected to increase slightly when the app becomes more full-featured).
